

A day in the life of an Elephant...

Deep in the Thai jungle we visit Phuket's first and only elephant sanctuary, a day you will never forget.

Pioneering ethical elephant tourism on the stunning island of Phuket in Southern Thailand. This is a retirement home for sick, injured, tired, or old elephants who have previously worked hard for tourism entertainment or in the logging industry.

Feed, walk with, and observe these beautiful rescued elephants for half a day as they roam throughout the sanctuary. Watch these elephants socialize and bathe naturally in the huge fresh water lagoons, and cover themselves in lovely thick mud; as they would in the wild.

Transform your world as you step into the tranquility of sanctuary life amidst the beautiful forest bordering the Khao Phra Thaeo National Park.

- 8.30 Leave from Paresa
- 9.30 Arrive at Elephant Sanctuary pick up
- 10.15 Elephant lecture & short film
- 10.45 Elephant interaction & feeding
- 11.15 Jungle walk & habitat observation
- 12.45 Lunch at the "tree top observation platform"
- 13.45 Return to drop off point
- 14.30 Arrive at Paresa

Tour Name:	"A day in the life of an Elephant"
Tour Type:	Daily (24 hour notice)
Operating hours:	Daily: 8.30 - 2pm
Guests:	Min 2 guests "Just for two"-private Max 6 guests (van)
Price:	4,500 THB ++ per person 7,500 THB ++ per couple 3,000 THB ++ Extra person <small>(Inclusive of private round trip transfer up to 8 pax)</small>
Price Includes:	English speaking guide, driver, private roundtrip transfers, entry to sanctuary, lecture, local lunch, unlimited soft drinks, beers, water & cold towels.